With prices for gas, education, cable TV and just about everything else reaching the stratosphere these days, nothing beats a great bargain. Enter Sharon's Kountry Kitchen, where you can eat for 15 percent off every time – yes, every time – you go through the door. That unique discount option has garnered Best of the Wabash Valley Best Bargain honors for the Jasonville eatery.

"Once you come in, you're handed a coupon for 15 percent off," said Sharon Boyd, who along with her husband, Bill, operates the business. "And your next visit – I don't care if it's a cup a coffee and a piece of pie – you get 15 percent off."

And a cup of coffee and piece of pie doesn't even begin to delve into Sharon's extensive menu. Aside from offering all-you-can-eat, hand-breaded Alaskan whitefish or Southern fried chicken every day, Sharon touts her homemade noodles, homemade barbecue, homemade ribs, homemade chili and homemade vegetable soups. Noticing a theme here?

"There's a lot of home-cooked stuff," she said. "I have good food and I serve a lot of it" Sharon's Kountry Kitchen, operating for nearly nine years now, is at 101 E. Main St. in Jasonville and is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Friday during the summer, 7 a.m. to 8 or 9 p.m. Saturday (depending on business) and 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday.

"I've had a very successful business," Sharon said. "If I getcha in there once, I'll getcha twice."

Down home: Sharon and Bill Boyd, owners of Sharon's Kountry Kitchen, offer many homemade items on their menu – and a 15 percent discount every time you eat there.
